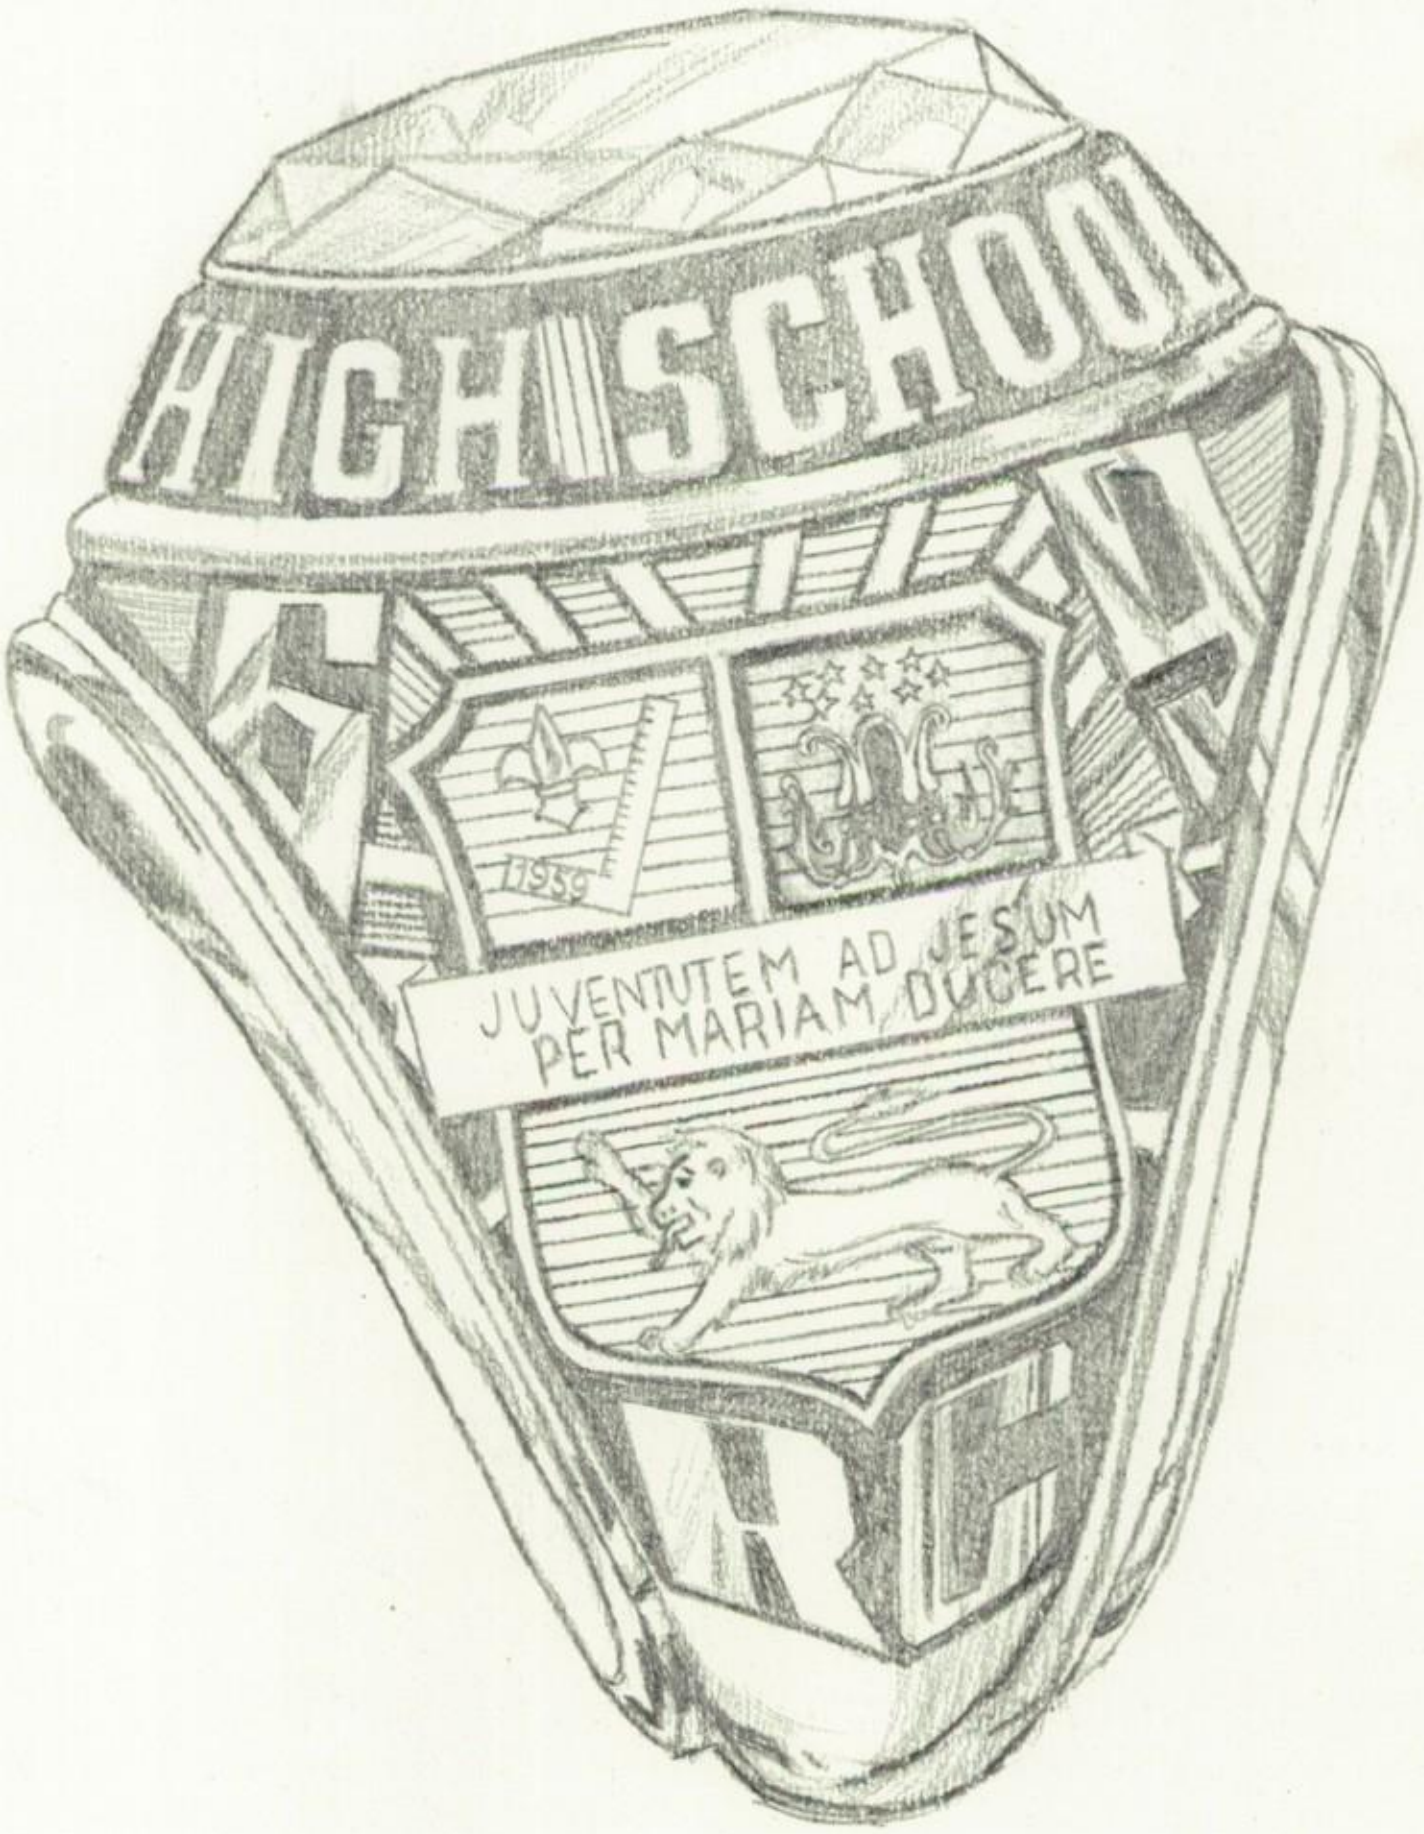
The Senior Class of

ROSELLE CATHOLIC HIGH SCHOOL

Roselle, New Jersey



Presents . . .

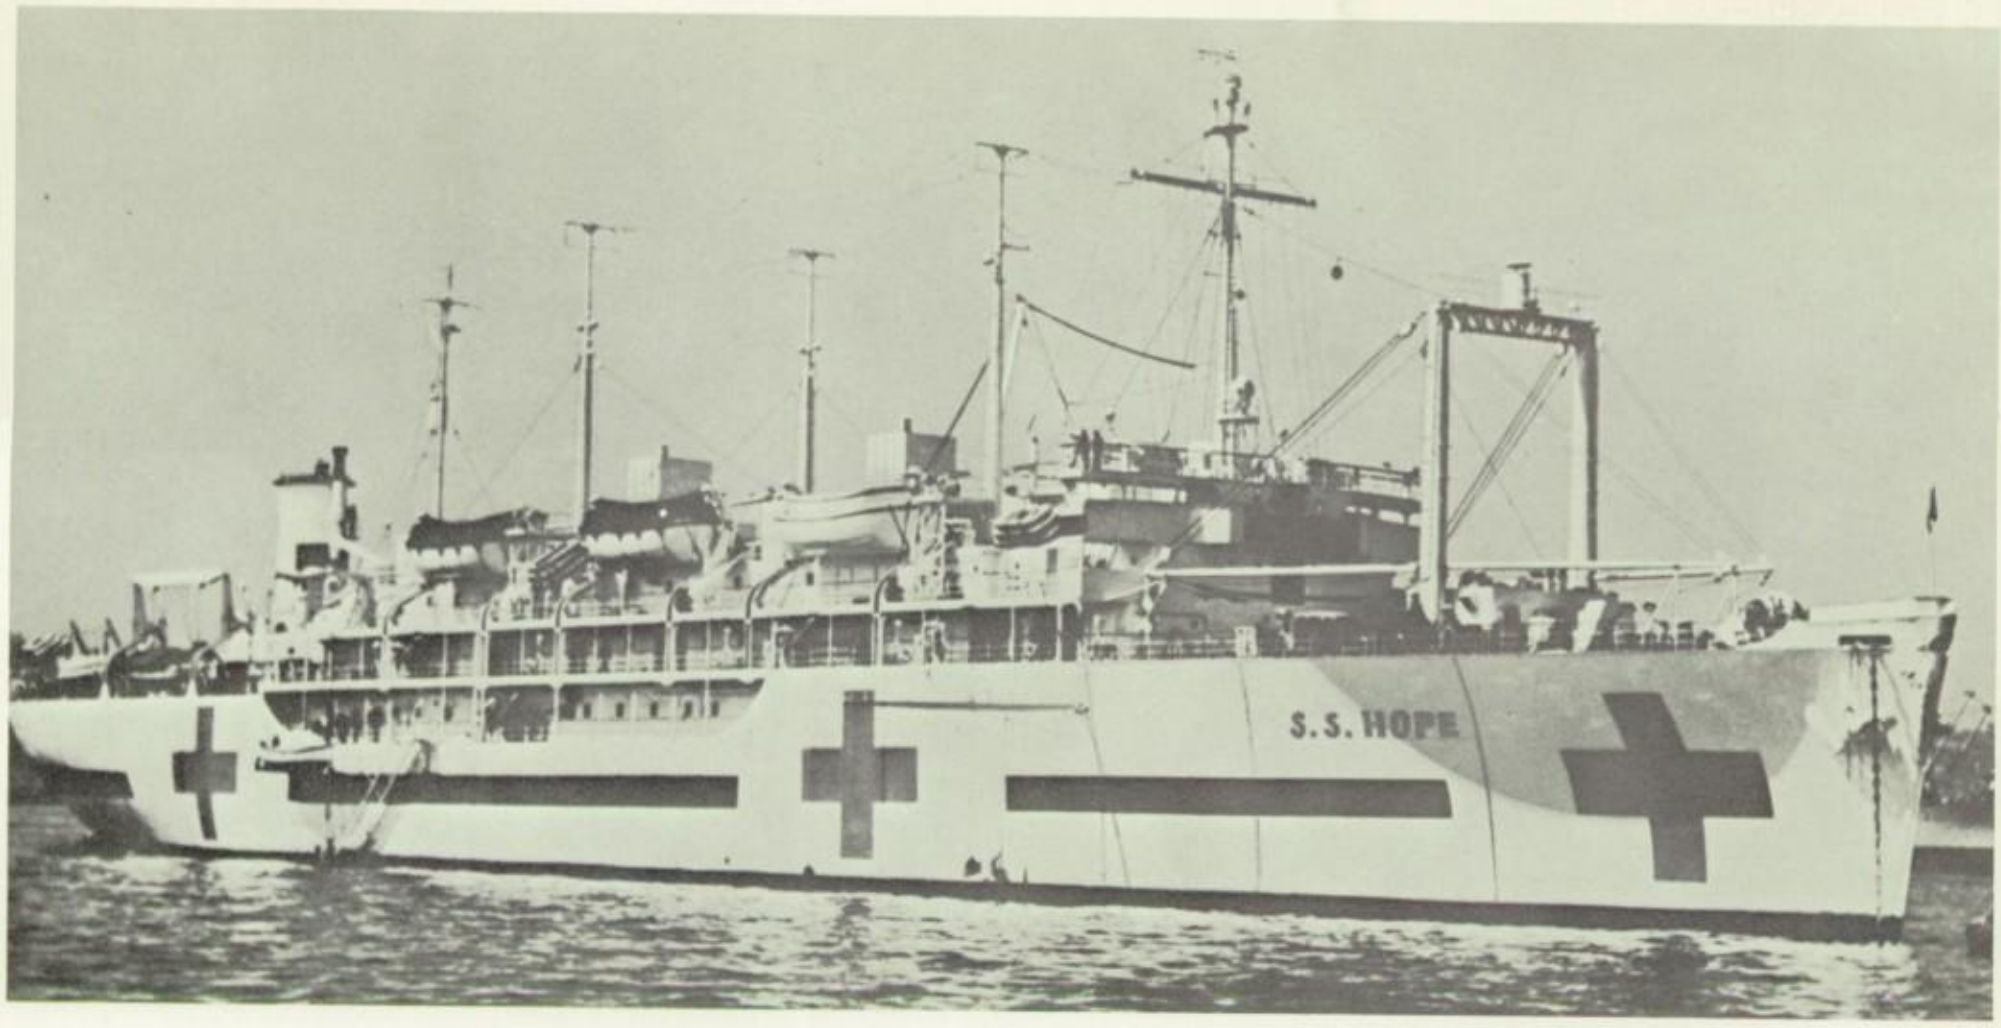
THE LIONS' LAIR

1969

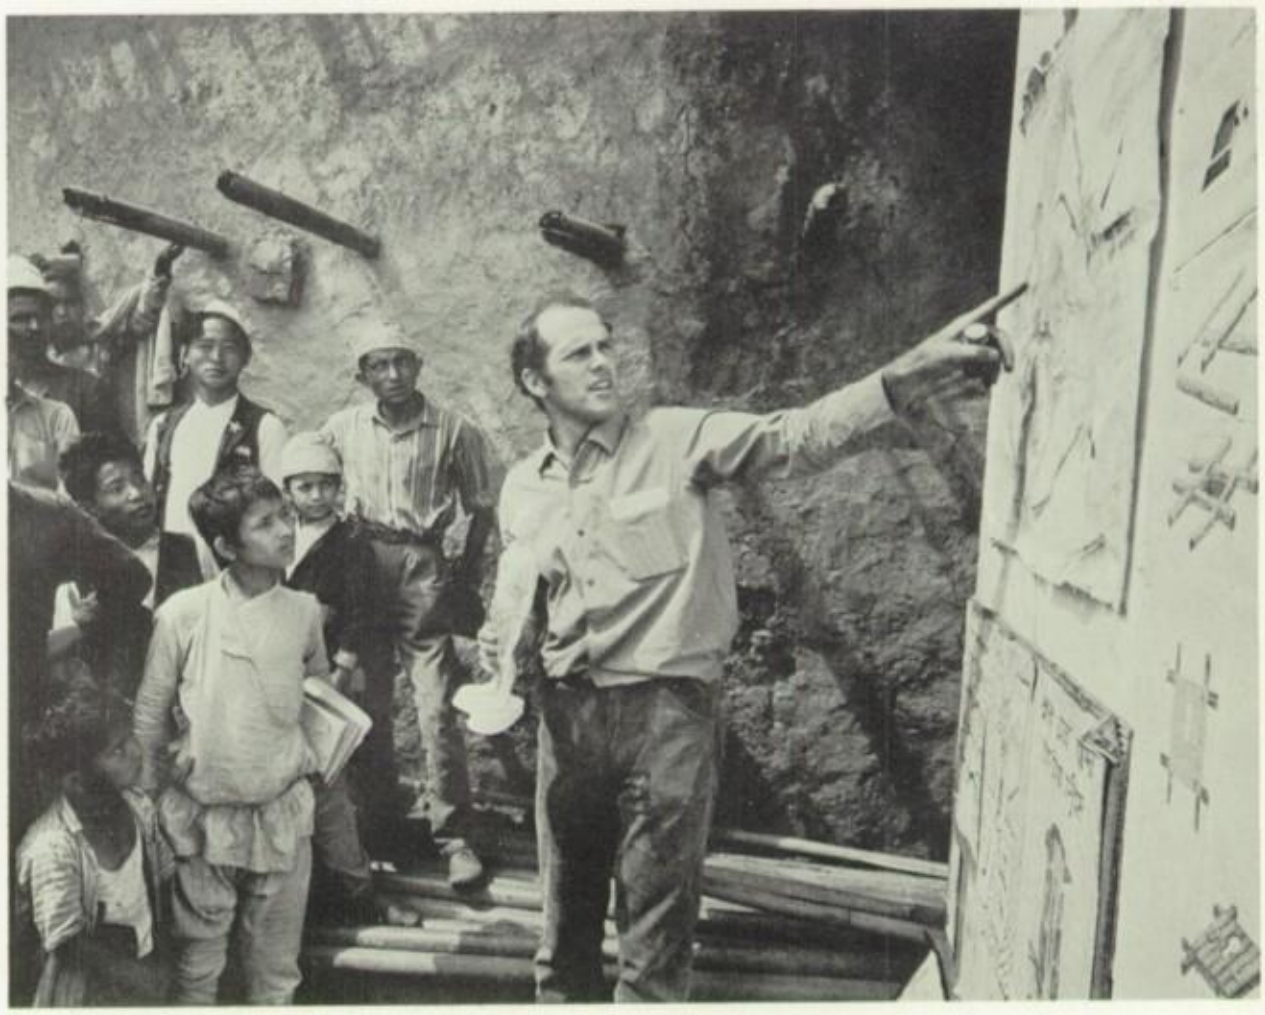
The world today faces many problems, some simple and others of paramount importance. In man's last spin around the sun, he has been battered by assassination, starvation, and invasion. Society has also been confronted with social unrest and upheaval. In the wake of man's greatest technological advancements, many look at the problems of racism, poverty, war, and ask WHY?

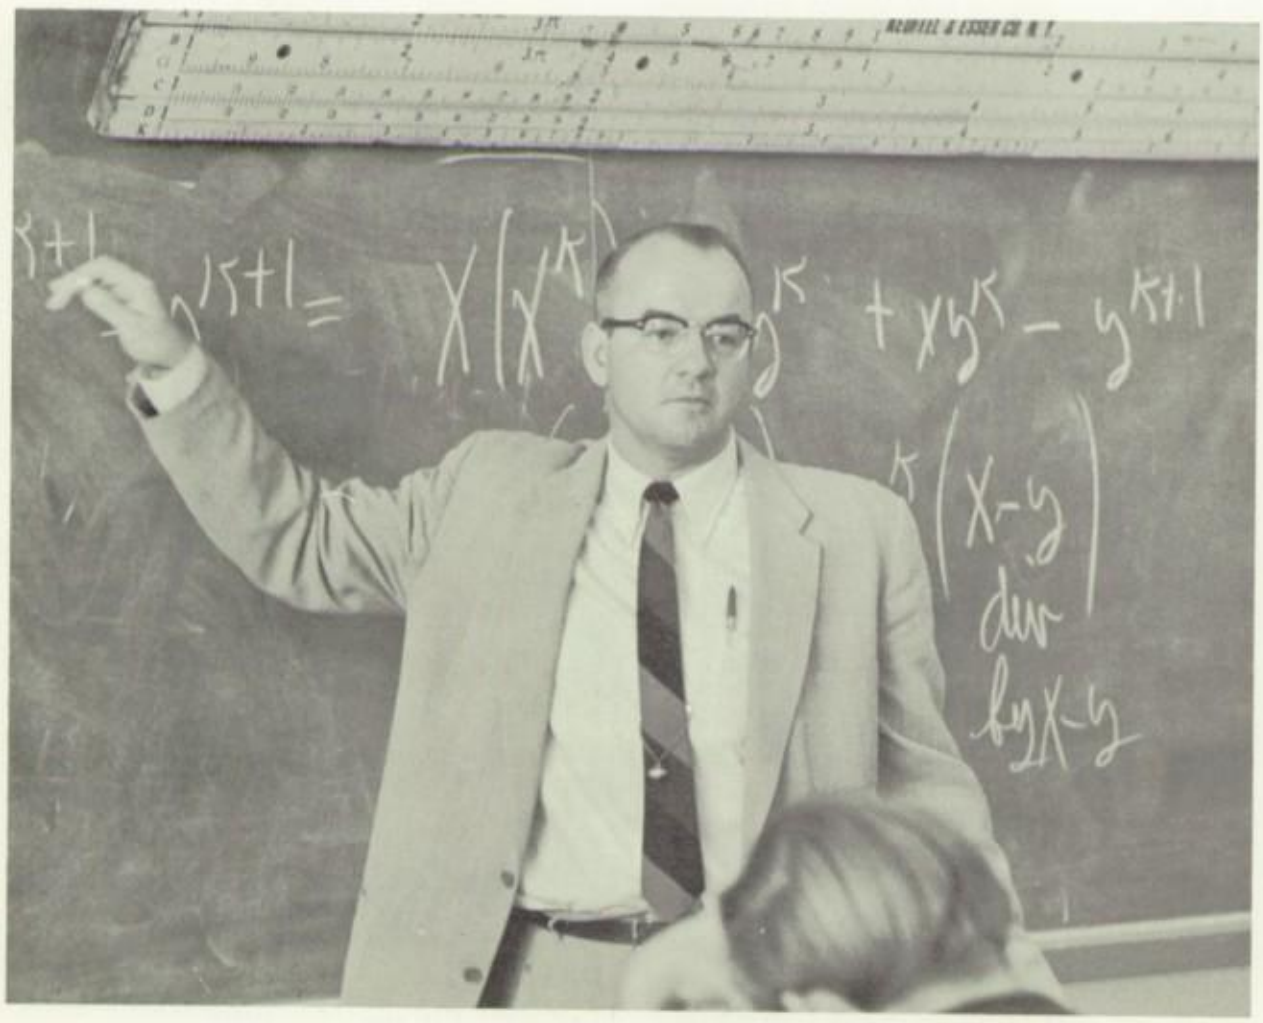
It seems obvious that the world changes for the worst whenever the barriers of neglect, selfishness, and disrespect cause men to lose contact with one another. This situation continues as long as men are unconcerned with their fellow man.

The ability to assail these barriers against human progress is within every man's reach. All that is required is a conscientious awareness of one's fellow man and an active participation in the events shaping our world. It is to those individuals who share this feeling that we dedicate the 1969 Lions' Lair.



S.S. HOPE

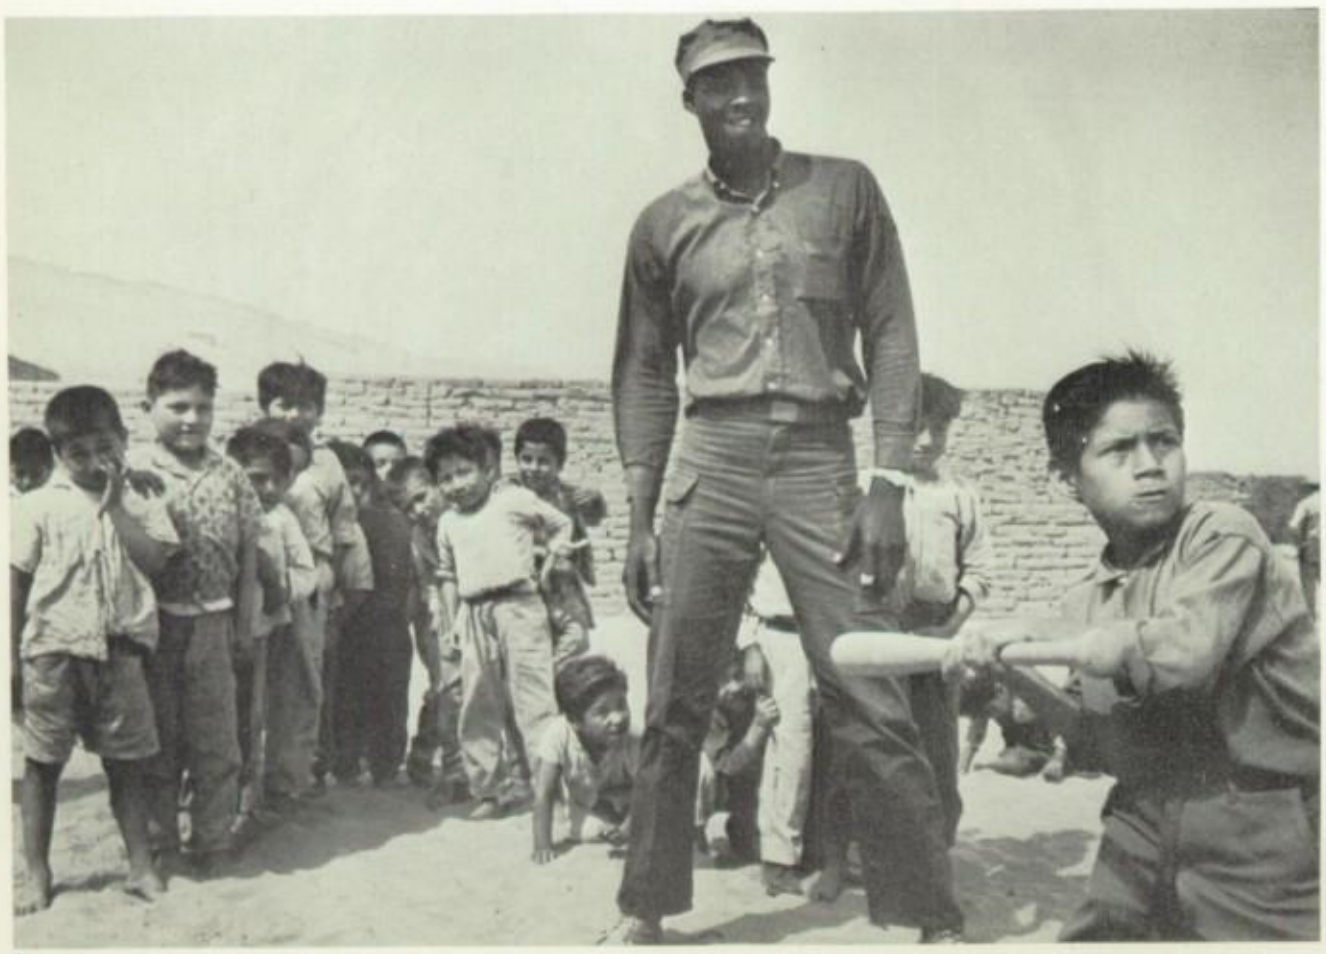


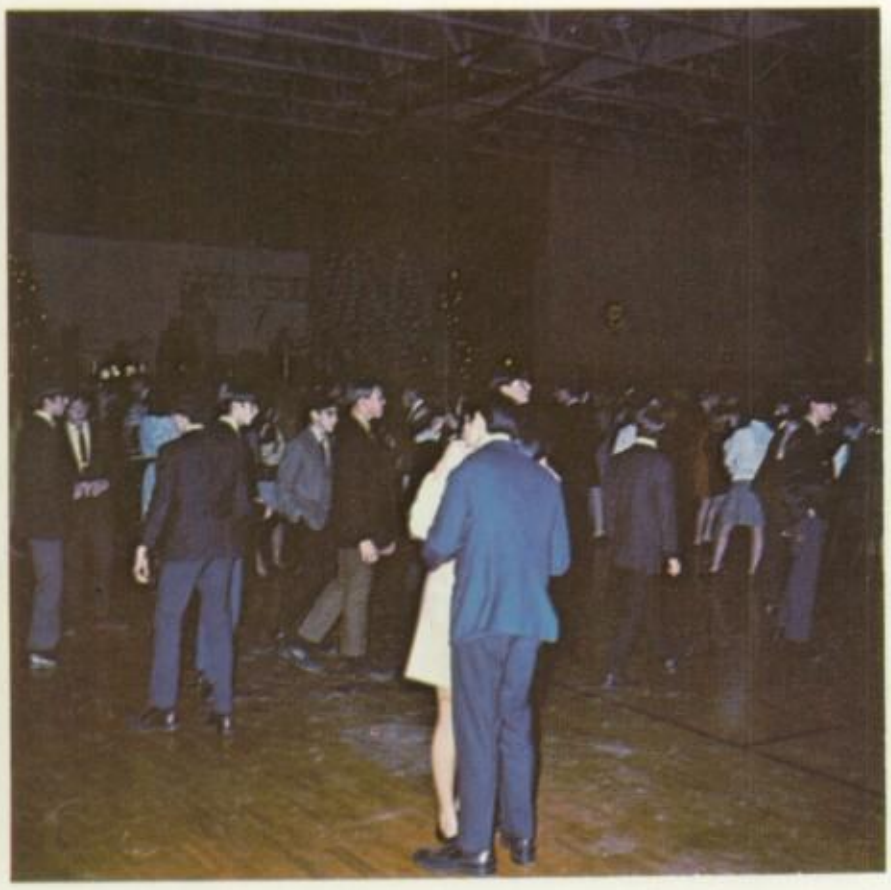


Naturally, it is impossible to become totally involved with society at this stage in one's life. It fact it is impractical to say that everyone will participate in the Peace Corps, teaching, or other forms of public service.

There is no excuse, however, for refusing to try and improve the world merely because one is unable to make a total commitment. If the individual rejects the opportunities which exist to change the world, stagnation results and society suffers.

It is not the purpose, nor the intention, of this theme to condemn the individuals of society for failing to work for the betterment of the world. Rather, we suggest to those searching for a method of participation that the opportunities for involvement can take many forms. One has only to look about him, at school, at people, and at himself to find them.





Preparing for the future is our present goal which we fulfill every day within the community of Roselle Catholic. For years our school has been graduating exceptional students and outstanding athletes; this accomplishment is attained only through the mutual participation of students and faculty. Perhaps most important of all is the reliance of Roselle Catholic students upon one another for assistance and guidance. This ability to work together, along with high aspirations and keen perseverance, is demonstrated in the students' countless scholastic and extracurricular activities.

It is our hope that all the graduates of Roselle Catholic will carry away with them not only a diploma but also an active involvement in the undertakings of mankind.
